

Mike Farr Receives Award from Home Builders

Each year the Home Builders Association of Iowa presents the Golden Eagle award to a builder or an associate member who has made an outstanding contribution to the state Home Builders Association during the past year. This year, the award has been presented to Mike Farr, Vice President of wholesale sales for Cascade Mfg Co. Mike has been involved with the home builders association for many years. During this time he has contributed countless hours by serving in various capacities at the local, state and national levels.
