What Are Your New Year's Resolutions?

With the New Year comes a list of goals to accomplish. For those in the construction industry, one goal may be to maintain margins in a slowing residential construction market while battling increased competition. Another might be to position your business as the place that customers can get what they want when they need it. A third could be the introduction of new products that sustain your image as the innovative building material supplier in your area.

Want an easy way to do this?

Mark your calendar now to attend an upcoming Lumber Association Trade Show being held in your area this winter.

Need a reason? How about several.

What better place is there to have access to seminars geared toward increasing your bottom line or improving product knowledge? How do you learn about industry trends? Where can you access hundreds of suppliers anxious to provide you with the products you need? It's all in one place—your Lumber Association Trade Show!

Cascade Mfg will be there. We hope you will be too.
