

A publication of Cascade Mfg. Co.

March 2006

When Irish Eyes are Smiling

Good Morning,

Once again the calendar has turned to the month of March when our thoughts turn to St. Patrick's Day. 'Tis time for a light-hearted look at the people from the Emerald Isle, their daily occurrences, and their responses. For those of you looking for a few "gems" to tell at upcoming St. Patrick's parties, you may want to buy a book.

Two Irishmen, Patrick and Michael, were adrift in a lifeboat following a dramatic escape from a burning freighter. While rummaging through the boat's provisions, Patrick stumbled across an old lamp. He rubbed the lamp vigorously. To Patrick's amazement a genie came forth. This particular genie, however, stated he could only deliver one wish, not the standard three. Without giving much thought to the matter, Patrick blurted out, "Make the entire ocean into Guinness Beer!" The genie clapped his hand with a deafening crash, and immediately the entire sea turned into the finest brew ever sampled by mortals. Simultaneously, the genie disappeared. Only the gentle lapping of the Guinness on the hull broke the stillness as the two men considered their circumstances. Michael looked disgustedly at Patrick whose wish had been granted. After a long tension-filled moment, he spoke, "Nice going Patrick! Now we're going to have to pee in the boat!"

Error!

A Texas rancher comes to Ireland and meets a farmer from County Kerry. The Texan says, "Takes me a whole day to drive from one side of my ranch to the other." The Kerry farmer said "Ah sure, I know, sir. We have tractors like that over here too."

As Murphy lay dying on his bed, his wife Brigid came in to him and asked if there was anything he wanted. Murphy said, "Brigid, what is that delicious smell coming from the kitchen?" And Brigid replied, "Oh dear, that is a ham I am baking." Murphy thought, and said "Brigid, as my dying wish I would love to have some of that ham you are cooking." Brigid replied, "Oh dear, I can't. I'm saving that for the wake!"

His wife had been killed in an accident and the police were questioning Finnegan. "Did she say anything before she died?" asked the sergeant. "She spoke without interruption for about forty years," replied the Irishman.

All kidding aside, at Cascade Mfg Co our number one priority is you and your customer's satisfaction. If you haven't experienced Total Support,™ you owe it to yourself and your customer to give us a call, for all your engineered wood and truss needs.

